

Engbers moves into Schultheiss Quartier

Berlin, August 8, 2018 – The men's fashion company engbers GmbH & Co. KG opens up a new store in Schultheiss Quartier in October 2018. Schultheiss Quartier is currently build by HGHI Holding GmbH on the area of the former Schultheiss brewery in Berlin-Mitte (Turmstraße/corner Stromstraße).

In proximity to the anchor tenant Kaufland , the men's fashion specialist will occupy a total surface of 132 sqm on the ground floor of Schultheiss Quartier. Here, it will present qualitiv and sporty menswear from shoes to leather jacket.

Schultheiss Quartier, designed by the Berlin architectural office Max Dudler, comprises approx. 100 shops on approx. 25,000 sqm retail space and approx. 15,000 sqm office space. In addition, the Meininger Hotel opens on approx. 8,500 sqm with approx. 250 rooms. 80 percent of all space has already been let. Tenants include H&M, New Yorker, Rituals, DM , Berliner Kaffeerösterei, Berliner Sparkasse, Kaufland, Intersport, Thalia, FitX and MediaMarkt.

With its diversity and a modern as well as unique tenant mix, the Schultheiss Quarter contributes to the upgrading of the up-and-coming, strongly growing district of Moabit in the Berlin-Mitte district. The location is only two kilometers away from Berlin Central Station and is optimally connected to public transport by numerous bus and underground lines. The opening is planned for early summer 2018.
